

Who is involved?

Ashley Nichols oversees the children's work at Christ Church. Ashley has visited many schools and says they are the highlight of his week. He is married to a primary school teacher so gets lots of tips!

We have a dedicated team of volunteers made of experienced school teachers, governors, parents and others. We usually visit in pairs to allow for greater interaction.

"Christ Church offers a dedicated service to support schools in the local area. I was impressed with a recent assembly run at our school. It was lively and engaging and helped the children to think about serving others."

Who are we?

We are a local Anglican church, Christ Church Cockfosters, who want to resource and build links with schools in our local community.

We aim to communicate Christian beliefs in an engaging and relevant way that is appropriate to the school environment and the diversity represented there.

We want to make it as easy as possible for teachers so that pupils can hear and see first hand experiences of Christianity.

“The Christ Church youth team come in to our school and take assemblies once a week. They follow a theme which supports the ethos of the school. The assemblies are fun and exciting and the children enjoy the time they spend with us. It adds to our school community and is a worthwhile link to our neighbourhood.”

Keith Taylor, Former Headteacher, of Trent CE Primary School

How can we resource you?

On a one off or regular basis we can provide:

Assemblies on a Christian theme.

Religious Education lessons.
